LOCAL NEWS.

Town meeting next Monday afternoon.

Curtis Robinson has returned to town.

Mrs. Dugald Stewart is repairing her residence, Pleasant street.

Dr. E. M. Parker of Brockton, Mass., is in town visiting his father and sister.

H. B. Potter of New York was in town the early part of the week on a visit to friends.

Miss Belle Eells, who has spent the winter in a school at Waterloo, P. Q., is home again.

At the Catholic church the Easter collection amounted to $238, and more is pledged.

Hon. C. W. Read of Addison and Frank Manchester of Brandon were in town Tuesday.

The net proceeds of Rev. Dr. Webber's lecture for the Y. M. C. A., last week, were between $18 and $19.

Frank B. Hyde of the Union Theological seminary, New York city, came home Saturday to spend the summer vacation.

L. J. Sampson of Cornwall has gone to Saratoga, N. Y., and will henceforth make his home with his son residing there.

A. G. Chandler of Ripton was in town Monday with the black bear cub which he caught recently. It attracted much attention.

Michael Boylan has sold out his stock of goods in the Smith & Sheldon block to Charles Tulley, who has opened a meat market there.

W. C. Bingham, who has been ill for five or six weeks, has so far recovered as to be able soon to resume his place in Mr. Bond's store.

The train which was expected to come with the Sunday World, last Sunday, did not appear—for what reason we are not able to learn.

Dr. and Mrs. F. Hamilton, late of Rutland, have been in town recently. They are now in Springfield, Mass., where the doctor will practice.

E. W. Burke of Cobleskill, N. Y., is visiting his mother here. His brother, principal of the school at the same place, was home a few days since.

Christopher Roberts, the colored evangelist, began Sunday evening a series of meetings at the old court-house which will be continued through the week.

The college boys will soon get out an annual, the "Kaleidoscope," illustrated with views of the college, etc., for which Mr. Dean has been taking photographs.

J. W. Baker has opened a livery stable at the barn of the Seaverance place, next to the bank. All of his carriages have not yet come, but he has begun business.

The Green Mountain Pulp Co. will soon begin the rebuilding of the dam at paper-mill falls, the present structure not affording sufficient water for the mill.

Mr. John Westfall of the United States navy, who came to town recently to visit his sister, Mrs. B. F. Wales, has concluded his stay and will shortly join his ship.

Chas. C. Severance, whose eyes have caused him much pain and trouble for a year or more, will go to Burlington next week to have an operation performed upon them.

It is intimated that a little missionary work might be done to advantage in the parks on the east side of the bridge, where burdocks are beginning to show themselves.

Mr. Tupper and others doing business in the vicinity of the bridge have raised a considerable amount by subscription and will use the money to keep that region well sprinkled.

T. Neville is the Middlebury man who will occupy the drug store now in course of erection at Orwell, spoken of by our correspondent in that town. Mr. Neville was formerly in the drug business in Swanton.

H. P. Stinson of Kansas City, Mo., was in town for a short time Saturday afternoon. He is trying to secure sufficient stockholders to start a national bank in his city, and has already made good progress.

It is now said that the project of getting up a hose company is not abandoned. Those having the matter in charge have gotten quite an amount subscribed and hope soon to have enough to buy the cart they want.

Postmaster W. F. Plaisted of Sandy Hill, N. Y., is in town. He was once a resident here. He came to town to make arrangements for the burial of his step-mother, who died in Rutland. She was, before marriage, Miss Samantha Ferris of this town. The burial took place yesterday afternoon.

C. M. Wilds, Esq., started Tuesday night for Michigan to be present at the taking of depositions for use in the trial of the Dr. Gale will case, which is expected to come on for hearing at the June term of the county court.

The college base ball club intended going to Bristol, Saturday, to play the Starksboro club, but the rain prevented. On Friday the freshmen club played a game with the younger of the town boys, the latter winning by a score of 27 to 21.

Lieut.-Gov. Ormsbee, Judge Lane and Mr. H. S. Jackson of Waltham, the commissioners in the Ripton highway case, where, as at New Haven, State aid is asked for the repair of the road, met here on Tuesday and went up to Ripton to look the ground over.

The house and lot on North Pleasant street belonging to the estate of the late Dolly Jackson were sold at auction, Tuesday, by Constable Munroe, and were bid in by Mr. Whitney, Mr. Jackson's son-in-law, at $16. The object of the sale was to clear up the title to the property.

A Northfield dispatch of Monday said that "Howard, the three-year-old son of Fred W. Dutton, was to-day found drowned in a water barrel." Mrs. Dutton, the mother of the child, was formerly Miss Orpha Williamson of this town, and is a sister of Mrs. J. P. Kingsley and Abram Williamson.

Mr. Atwood has his creamery, near the freight depot, well under way. The buildings is up and slated; and, if nothing happens, the institution will be ready for operation by the first of June. The proprietor elsewhere in these columns makes certain propositions to patrons, which seem fair for all parties concerned.

W. E. Dewey was misrepresented in the item of last week, according to the story of his friends, who say that Dwyer hired the horse; that Mr. Dewey simply drove for him, as he (Dwyer) was to remain at Randolph; that the horse was driven no farther than Mr. Dewey supposed it was to go under the contract between Dwyer and its owner, and that the horse died from natural causes, not from over-driving.

Monday was an exceedingly busy day in town. The receipts of butter were large, the prices paid ranging from 18 cents down. But what made the most stir was the wool trade. About 25,000 pounds were taken in, the buyers being Messrs. J. L. Buttolph, U. D. Twitchell, J. A. Wright and G. D. Miner. The prices paid for fine were 15 to 16 1/2 cents, and for coarse 18 cents. Many farmers doubt whether they can realize more later and so sell at once.

A current item about the Congregational church at West Rutland, which Smith & Allen built last summer, says that "in beauty of architecture, situation and durability of workmanship, it is said to be second to no other church in the State of the same seating capacity. The church in its full capacity will seat about 600 people. It is finished in hard woods and frescoed and painted by the hands of the best decorators." It will be dedicated next week Wednesday.

The house which Frank Lucia is having built is two stories high, the main part 30x23 feet in dimensions and the ell 24x23. An excellent barn, 28x23 feet in size, is also going up. The buildings are situated on the western slope of Chipman's hill, on a lot which Mr. Lucia bought last spring of J. G. Wellington, Esq. On the premises is a first-class spring, sufficiently high up on the hill so that the water will go to the upper floor of the house. The location is one of the pleasantest in town.

A fair-sized audience heard Rev. Mr. Speare's lecture on "The Power of Oratory," at the Congregational lecture-room, Wednesday evening. It was an interesting and able discussion of a subject of popular concern and should have been heard by as many as the room would hold. The speaker mentioned the occasion of oratory and some instances where it had changed the fortunes of a people, and then proceeded to detail the qualities which go to make up the successful orator, closing with a statement of the parts of an oration and their relations to each other. All the points were illustrated by references to the personal characteristics of those who have been famous as public speakers and with extracts from their orations.

At the Y. M. C. A. rooms Sunday afternoon there was a well-attended song service, at which five young men took part. The regular Bible meeting was held Monday evening, at the close of which the several committees met and organized. They are: Devotional—F. A. Bond (chairman), B. L. Brown, J. B. Noland, Virgil Benedict; membership—E. W. Bird (chairman), L. F. Farnsworth, Chas. A. Piper, M. E. Damon, C. P. Langworthy; entertainment—W. H. Sheldon (chairman), L. E. Mellen, Geo. M. Fletcher, Geo. L. Porter; reception—C. W. Spencer (chairman), E. E. Rich, H. H. Bryant, R. A. Dean, A. H. Sperry, Jr., G. W. Mead, H. W. Davis, Lee F. Phelps, Harry Noe. State Secretary Avery was here all day Wednesday and in the evening gave a Bible reading. He left for St. Albans yesterday morning. The regular business meeting comes this evening, at which all members are requested to be present. A young men's meeting will follow. There will be services Sunday afternoon, with an address by Mr. F. B. Hyde; a Bible meeting Monday evening and the regular young men's meeting Wednesday evening.

Mr. Allan Calhoun of this village has just received letters-patent for an improved steam boiler, designed specially for heating purposes. It is of the variety known as sectional. Each section is the shape of a flattened cylinder and has a large flue running through it lengthwise. These sections are placed on their sides, and any number can be used, one on top of the other and connected. They are set with either brick or metal setting. In any case provision is made for heating the air before it strikes the grate. The lower side of the lower section is immediately above the fire. Passing along this the heated air goes through the first section, then between its upper surface and the lower side of the upper section, then through the upper one and finally along the top of it and out. Thus a great heating surface is obtained, that of a boiler made up of two sections three feet long by two feet wide being 80 square feet. Hence it is very economical in the use of fuel. The flues and heating surfaces can also be easily gotten at and cleaned. Mr. Calhoun had a boiler of the dimensions given above constructed last fall, and placed in the basement of his store. With it he heated 28,000 cubic feet of space in the coldest weather with 100 pounds of coal per 24 hours. His patents cover not only the boiler and the manner of setting, but also regulating apparatus which renders it perfectly safe and easy to manage. The boiler costs less for a given capacity than any now in the market, can be set in a four-foot cellar and has a number of other excellent points. Mr. Calhoun is likely to find it a profitable thing; for there is a wide and rapidly growing demand for the best appliances for steam heating both for public buildings and private houses.
